Fishing the waters of Futa Lodge, Chile.

The spirit of adventure

Sportquest Holidays is the new name for Angling Direct Holidays. It continues to provide the same outstanding customer service, but now offers an even greater choice of destinations. Where do you dream of fishing?

Bonefish heaven, St Mauritius.

The master fisherman in Alaska.

King salmon, Bristol Bay, Alaska.

Giant trevally fly-fishing, Maldives.

Huge sea-trout, Argentina.

Salmon fishing, British Columbia.

SPORTQUEST IS unique in the world of fishing holidays. While some tour operators provide fishing and nothing else, the Sportquest team prides itself in providing a total package, looking after you from your front door every step of the way to the world's finest fly-fishing destinations.

Established in 2004, the company offers a remarkable choice of holidays, for both freshwater and saltwater fly sport, as well as big-game fishing and shooting.

You could be chasing giant trevally at Atoll X in the Maldives, enormous sea-trout on the Rio Gallegos in Argentina or salmon on the exclusive Gaula in Norway. These truly are the fishing holidays of your imagination.

Each trip is tailor-made to fulfil your expectations with each location meticulously researched by Sportquest's team of chosen experts, who have decades of travel and guiding experience.

Sportquest is proud of its customer service - more than 85 per cent of its customers return for future holidays.

The "personal touch" is important to Sportquest. Call the team to discuss exactly what you need and choose from a comprehensive range of services: where to fish (or shoot), guides, flights, accommodation, travel insurance, car hire and non-fishing excursions.

Sportquest will create a complete flexible package at an all-inclusive price.

This customer service is backed up by comprehensive literature and an excellent website that clearly shows everything that is included - removing those hidden extras that other tour operators employ to keep initial advertised prices low.

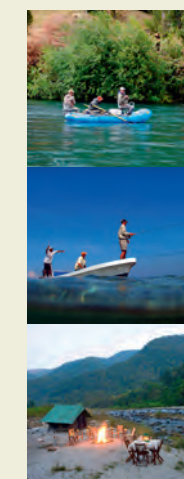

The Sportquest team will take care of everything you'll need for a trouble-free holiday. You can book secure in the knowledge that Sportquest is fully ATOL bonded, which means your complete packaged holiday is covered.

So what are you waiting for? Make this the year that you enjoy the fishing holiday of a lifetime.
